

Perinatal Community Health Worker

Who is First 5 Orange County?

First 5 Orange County is a local public agency dedicated to helping children from prenatal to age five have the strongest start in life, by funding and improving access to essential services for children and their families. First 5 Orange County is funded by tobacco tax revenues.

We fund direct services, engage and empower families, and bring providers together to make systems more responsive. Our primary areas of focus include improving health for children prenatal to age 5; increasing access and quality of early learning; deepening family and community engagement; collecting and leveraging data; and building system efficiency.

Do you have a passion for supporting families during the critical perinatal period? If so, your passions may align with First 5 Orange County's mission.

The Perinatal Community Health Worker will play a critical role in supporting families through outreach and engagement efforts. This position is central to building trust, increasing access to services, and promoting health and developmental outcomes for young children and their caregivers, focusing on the prenatal through age 2 population. The Perinatal Community Health Worker will have a strong understanding of the cultural and systemic needs of diverse communities.

What are we looking for in this position? Answer the questions below to see if you may be a fit for our new team member.

- Community Health Worker certification is encouraged but not required.
- Do you have a minimum of 3+ years of community health worker or related experience?
- Are you bilingual in English and Spanish, both in writing and speaking?
- Do you have familiarity with Orange County community resources, public health systems, and early childhood programs?
- Can you work independently and collaboratively in a fast-paced, community-centered environment?

If you answered yes to the questions above, send us your resume!

What are the benefits?

This is a full-time position, the pay range is $27 to $32 per hour.

But the most rewarding benefit is your ability to contribute to building stronger communities!

Ask questions or submit your resume to info@first5.oc.gov.